Celebration was a great success!

Our annual Celebration! brunch on September 10 was great fun for an enthusiastic crowd of 132 members, sponsors and agency representatives. The event, at the San Fernando Ballroom downtown, started out with a mix-and-mingle social time, then moved on to a delicious brunch.

Agency update: TEAMability

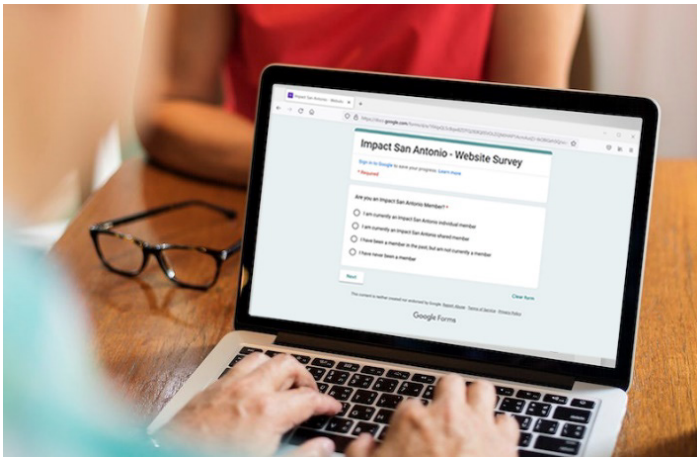

TEAMability is in the business of hope. They work with children, and now a few adults, with complex multiple disabilities to help them get the most out of their lives.

A 2021 High Impact Grant from Impact San Antonio purchased ceiling-mounted tracking equipment that helps patients stand upright - and in the case of one little girl with a spinal injury, helps her roller skate. Her big smile tells you exactly how much she's enjoying it.

Tell us what you think about our website!

Impact San Antonio has embarked on a project to redesign its website, and we could use your help. The goal of this redesign is to ensure that our website:

- inspires women to join the power of collective philanthropy and engages with our members.
- encourages nonprofit agencies to learn more about how to successfully apply for our substantial grants.
- expands awareness and appreciation for our vision of women serving as catalysts for transforming lives in our community.

Your feedback on a brief survey will help us shape the website architecture and refine its content to better serve our members and potential nonprofit applicants. We look forward to your input. We will close this survey on September 30.

Sponsor profile: Degrees of Work

Rose Mary Fry is both a member and a sponsor for Impact San Antonio. In fact, she was one of our founding members in 2004. The company she founded, Degrees of Work, holds seminars to help nonprofit agencies operate more efficiently through the training of board members, staff and volunteers.

Here is what Rose Mary has to say about her sponsorship, which began in 2019.

Member profile: Anna Gangai Liesman

If you've been to any recent Impact San Antonio events, there's a good chance you've seen Anna Gangai Liesman helping at the check-in table. A member since 2018, Anna has a cheerful personality that makes her a joy to work with. And she's had a long and interesting career as an actress in San Antonio.

Here's what she has to say about our organization and her work on the stage.
